

Robert Paul Properties Joins Chicago Real Estate Network

11/13/09

Robert Paul Properties, a real estate company serving Cape Cod and the South Coast, has joined Chicago-based Leading Real Estate Companies of the World.

Leading Real Estate Companies of the World is a global network comprised of more than 600 of the best-known local and regional real estate firms nationwide and across 35 other countries. Collectively, these firms sell 1 million homes annually in the U.S. valued at nearly $300 billion in sales, according to a statement.

Robert Paul Properties has also joined the marketing arm famously known as Luxury Portfolio, with the most trafficked real estate Web site worldwide for top tier real estate.

Robert Kinlin and Paul Grover said being selected as a member of the Leading Real Estate Companies of the World and the Luxury Portfolio network is "an honor and represents another step in the development of the firm as it becomes the company of choice for waterfront and fine village properties across Cape Cod and along the South Coast," according to a statement.

"We are delighted that Robert Paul Properties has joined Leading Real Estate Companies of the World," said President and CEO of Leading Real Estate Companies of the World Network Services Ruth Ann Pepple. "Their selection was based on the company's outstanding reputation, as well as its demonstrated ability to deliver the same high quality service and reliability as our other affiliates. This level of service is the foundation of our network and is the basis for our longevity and success as one of the industry's leading providers of real estate and relocation services."
